This map includes some of the most in-demand public sector jobs in Seattle-King County. Roles and skillsets vary more widely than in other industries, from social services, to public infrastructure, to natural resource management. Advancement in some branches is attached to education, while others require hands-on experience. Most types of occupations exist within the public sector.

Range of hourly wages from entry-level to experienced (2018), Emsi